Dear Conference Participants,

We are very pleased to welcome you to the International Studies Association – Al Akhawayn University 2023 International Conference (Ifrane, June 21-23).

We would like to welcome you to our conference on Africa, the Middle East and the Maghreb: Society, the State, and Solidarities. We are delighted to bring together a host of established and junior scholars, practitioners, and students. The diverse backgrounds of our panelists will surely enrich discussions, and open spaces on which to build collaborations. We hope that the ideas discussed at the conference will bring new insights to explain the causes of, and offer remedies to, rising challenges that Africa, the Middle East, and the Maghreb are facing. Dialogue and bridgebuilding are very much needed among local and global parties interested in our regions.

Many people made this conference possible. Two remarkable individuals stand out. Nizar Messari (AUI) has been the driving force of this conference and lent us unrelenting support. Alex Walker (ISA) has guided us with remarkable patience and positive energy. At AUI, we would like to thank President Amine Bensaid, Vice-President Chris Taylor and Dean Asma Abbas for their support. We would like to thank you Mr. Rachid Daoudi for his continuous help with the organizational aspects of the conference. Staff at the ISA headquarters were remarkably helpful with assistance and collegiality. We thank Mark Boyer, Liz Fausett-Fuhrman, Jennifer Fontanella, Mary Hartford, Courtney FitzGerald, Kristin Nacovsky, Tara Guillaume, Lisa Garvey, Nichole Page and many others that helped us virtually.

We would like to recognize the generous hospitality of Al Akhawayn University, which is an ideal location to pursue our intellectual interests. The University's educational goals include enhancing our understanding of socioeconomic challenges facing Africa, the Middle East and Maghreb, thinking of practical multidimensional solutions to these challenges, and promoting cross-cultural exchange. We hope that this will be a great opportunity for productive exchanges around these goals. Al Akhawayn University prides itself for being rooted in Moroccan culture and open to others globally. We wish you an enjoyable stay at Al Akhawayn University, and hope that you will not miss the opportunity to visit the Ifrane region and to get to know more about Morocco.

We would like to thank our institutions, The Doha Institute for Graduate Studies and the School of Humanities and Social Sciences at Al Akhawayn University, for their support.

We wish you a very successful conference and look forward to meeting you all.

Office of the President

PRESIDENT, AL AKHAWAYN UNIVERSITY IN IFRANE
MEMBER, HIGHER COUNCIL FOR EDUCATION,
TRAINING AND SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

Dear Participants,

I am very pleased to welcome the participants at the joint Al Akhawayn University in Ifrane (AUI) and the International Studies Association (ISA) conference under the Africa, the Middle East and the Maghreb: Society, the State, and Solidarities.

Al Akhawayn University, a global university which is simultaneously Moroccan in its roots and identity and American accredited by the New England Commission on Higher Education, with Moroccan and international students from all over the world, considers hosting this conference with Senior and Junior scholars from the field of International Studies a single opportunity to explore and express its global scope to the fullest.

This conference also embodies our ambition at AUI to provide a locus for critical reflections on the state of politics and society in the Middle East and Africa. We are convinced that your presence among us will be an opportunity for fruitful conversations as well as for launching new projects and ideas for collaboration and cooperation among scholars and institutions.

I want to thank the ISA in the person of its Executive Director, Mark Boyer, for its formidable support to make this encounter meaningful and successful. I also want to thank the program chairs, our own Driss Maghraoui and Imad Mansour from the Doha Institute for Graduate Studies for crafting an enticing and fulfilling program. Obviously, an encounter like this one would not be possible without the involvement of many individuals both from AUI and the ISA, to whom I express my deepest gratitude.

I wish all participants a productive and fruitful encounter, and I hope you will explore and enjoy Ifrane, the Atlas Mountains and Morocco.

RELATIONS AT THE UNIVERSITY OF
SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA, AND VISITING
SENIOR FELLOW AT THE LSE CENTRE FOR WOMEN, PEACE AND SECURITY IN THE UK

It is my great pleasure to welcome you to Ifrane, Morocco, for our 2023 International Conference. The theme of the conference, “Africa, the Middle East and the Maghreb: Society, the State, and Solidarities”, draws attention to the relationships and affinities between different groups and actors and explores the possibilities of positive political change. The program chairs, Driss Maghraoui from Al Akhawayn University and Imad Mansour from the Doha Institute for Graduate Studies, have crafted an exciting schedule of fascinating panels and roundtables for you to engage with over the next few days. On behalf of the ISA community, I extend my deepest thanks to Nizar Messari, our host at Al Akhawayn University, and the two program chairs, for their significant efforts in creating such a rich and intellectually stimulating conference for us all to enjoy.

In addition to the many highlights of the conference program, I would encourage you all to attend the welcome reception on Wednesday and take advantage of the opportunity to meet our hosts (and each other!). In your down time, Ifrane is a particularly beautiful location, with the world’s largest cedar forest and many lakes and parks in which to enjoy peaceful walks. You may even spot a Barbary macaque or a Barbary deer if you venture out into nature. If you want to explore a little further afield, there is a trip to the historic city of Fez planned for Thursday afternoon.

As always, the conference would not have been possible without the dedicated efforts of a large team of colleagues. I would like to thank the team at ISA Headquarters for their work on the siting, logistics, program, and conference administration, and everyone from the host institution who has contributed generously to the success of this event. I wish everyone a generative and thoughtful conference – make new friends, think new thoughts, and enjoy Ifrane!

WELCOME FROM THE ORGANIZATION COMMITTEE

AMINE BENSAID

PRESIDENT, AL AKHAWAYN UNIVERSITY IN IFRANE
MEMBER, HIGHER COUNCIL FOR EDUCATION,
TRAINING AND SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

Dear Participants,

I am very pleased to welcome the participants at the joint Al Akhawayn University in Ifrane (AUI) and the International Studies Association (ISA) conference under the Africa, the Middle East and the Maghreb: Society, the State, and Solidarities.

Al Akhawayn University, a global university which is simultaneously Moroccan in its roots and identity and American accredited by the New England Commission on Higher Education, with Moroccan and international students from all over the world, considers hosting this conference with Senior and Junior scholars from the field of International Studies a single opportunity to explore and express its global scope to the fullest.

This conference also embodies our ambition at AUI to provide a locus for critical reflections on the state of politics and society in the Middle East and Africa. We are convinced that your presence among us will be an opportunity for fruitful conversations as well as for launching new projects and ideas for collaboration and cooperation among scholars and institutions.

I want to thank the ISA in the person of its Executive Director, Mark Boyer, for its formidable support to make this encounter meaningful and successful. I also want to thank the program chairs, our own Driss Maghraoui and Imad Mansour from the Doha Institute for Graduate Studies for crafting an enticing and fulfilling program. Obviously, an encounter like this one would not be possible without the involvement of many individuals both from AUI and the ISA, to whom I express my deepest gratitude.

I wish all participants a productive and fruitful encounter, and I hope you will explore and enjoy Ifrane, the Atlas Mountains and Morocco.

TRAINING AND SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

Dear Participants,

I am very pleased to welcome the participants at the joint Al Akhawayn University in Ifrane (AUI) and the International Studies Association (ISA) conference under the Africa, the Middle East and the Maghreb: Society, the State, and Solidarities.

Al Akhawayn University, a global university which is simultaneously Moroccan in its roots and identity and American accredited by the New England Commission on Higher Education, with Moroccan and international students from all over the world, considers hosting this conference with Senior and Junior scholars from the field of International Studies a single opportunity to explore and express its global scope to the fullest.

This conference also embodies our ambition at AUI to provide a locus for critical reflections on the state of politics and society in the Middle East and Africa. We are convinced that your presence among us will be an opportunity for fruitful conversations as well as for launching new projects and ideas for collaboration and cooperation among scholars and institutions.

I want to thank the ISA in the person of its Executive Director, Mark Boyer, for its formidable support to make this encounter meaningful and successful. I also want to thank the program chairs, our own Driss Maghraoui and Imad Mansour from the Doha Institute for Graduate Studies for crafting an enticing and fulfilling program. Obviously, an encounter like this one would not be possible without the involvement of many individuals both from AUI and the ISA, to whom I express my deepest gratitude.

I wish all participants a productive and fruitful encounter, and I hope you will explore and enjoy Ifrane, the Atlas Mountains and Morocco.
